

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Multiplexing means of an image encoding device multiplexes display speed information or information indicating absolute time, and an image decoding device performs processing on the basis of the multiplexed display speed information or information indicating absolute time, whereby image decoding process can be performed smoothly and accurately.